H Janet

Jacobs is putting together a set of slides to present. Their materials will be based upon modeling done by Geosyntec. They will cover mounding that is anticipated based upon the bulkhead work and ISS in the Canal; how groundwater movement is predicted to be altered based upon the mounding; offer suggestions on measures that could potentially be taken to alleviate mounding and also alleviate the potential for migration of contaminants that could potentially occur under the mounding scenario.

Jacobs analysis has been done in the absence of knowing exactly how the site will be graded for development (and other development specifics that may be under consideration) and without current groundwater contaminant levels. So, they are not purporting to be expert on this, but their presentation should provide a good platform for discussion.

Will Grid be presenting anything with respect to their understanding on the potential for mounding or any prep/work they might have planned to address water issues that may confront developers and/or might potentially result in the need for additional control/containment measures?

We can talk more about the agenda at 11 if need be.

Thanks

Doug

Importance: High

Doug/Joel – We saw that Brian Carr was included on the invite for tomorrow’s meeting. DEC and Grid’s team hadn’t planned for legal counsel to be present. Can Brian drop out so we can have a technical call? Also, would appreciate an agenda before the call to be best prepared for the topics.

Thx,
Janet
